

Equipment of choice

---

Name:

Date:

Essential Academic Learning Requirement. (EALR):

Apply reading skills and strategies to technical and Production related content.

This week's product:

Budget:

---

Each week you will be given a theoretical budget for a piece of equipment for your production company. Each week the category of equipment will change as well as the budget you have in which to spend. You must research a piece of equipment at www.bhphotovideo.com. Tuesday of each week you will need to come to class with this paper filled out based on your product of choice and present it to the class. You must stay within budget, know your product confidently, and be able to discuss the different characteristics about your piece of equipment.

For each product you must print out the specifications with a picture of the product. If you are unable to print, you must email a link to the product to voorhis.c@mail.wsd.wednet.edu no later than Tuesday, 7:30am.

Product Brand:

Model #:

What was the budget for this product?

How much did your product cost?

What are the pros and cons of this product?

What are the key features to this product?

What are the system requirements of this product?

Do you need any additional equipment or products to operate this piece of equipment?

What about your product makes it the best choice for your money?

---